ÇAĞ MIDDLE SCHOOL CELEBRATES EUROPEAN LANGUAGE DAY WITH A MULTILINGUAL EUROLUNCH

On September 26, Çağ Middle School hosted a vibrant celebration of European Language Day, bringing together students, teachers, and staff for a unique "Eurolunch" event. The school's garden transformed into a bustling cultural hub, with tables representing various European countries, each offering a taste of their national cuisine. Students and staff enjoyed specialties like Italian pasta, French pastries, and Spanish tapas while practicing greetings and phrases in multiple European languages. The event not only showcased the rich diversity of European cultures but also encouraged linguistic curiosity. Interactive language booths were set up where students could learn basic phrases in languages like German, Portuguese, and Dutch. Photos from the event, featuring lively conversations and delicious dishes, captured the spirit of the day—celebrating unity through linguistic diversity. The Eurolunch was a delicious and educational experience that left the students excited about languages and cultures from around the continent.

YOUNG READERS TAKE STORIES OUTDOORS

This month, our primary school students enjoyed a special reading session in the school garden, turning the outdoors into a lively stage for their favourite stories. With books in hand, they found cosy spots under trees and on the grass, bringing characters to life with expressive voices. The fresh air and natural surroundings added a touch of magic to the experience, making the stories feel even more real. Teachers and students alike celebrated the event as a fun and engaging way to enjoy literature. What better way to combine the joys of nature and reading?

QUALITY OF EDUCATION AT ÇAĞ COLLEGE FROM THE PERSPECTIVE OF OUR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT GÜLŞEN NAZ AYGÜN

Majority of people claim that the quality of education is at the same level at any private school regardless. In fact, school is a community that a young person, especially between infancy and puberty, raises by their surroundings at this special environment while gaining lifelong experiences. Consequently, there are numerous of amenities that individuals ought to consider more seriously during looking for a private school.

Quality of education includes international standards to raise open minded students for a better future. Çağ College is an Accredited school by The Council of International Schools (CIS) since 2000. CIS International Accreditation is a mark of quality assurance and this International Accreditation protocol is based on CIS Mission, Values, and Code of Ethics.

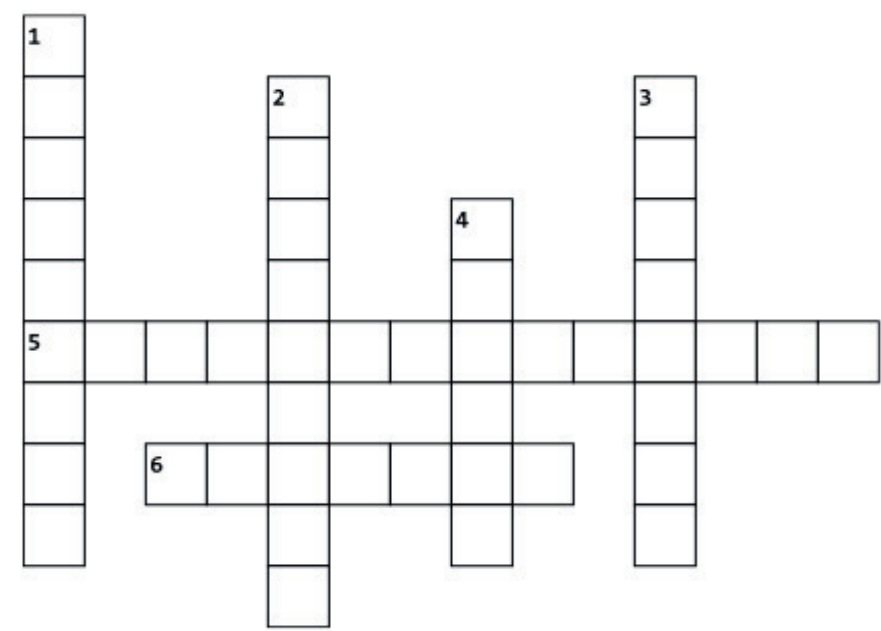

Universities around the World seek out students at CIS-Internationally Accredited schools due to the high quality of international education which makes students more privileged while applying to universities.

Çağ College has an academic staff that includes native language teachers for a fine language learning experience, giving students opportunity to practice language with native speakers from around the world at the best way possible. The options for language learning doesn't end with that, school itself supports language summer courses abroad. Encourages students to attend exchange programs which makes them learn about new cultures while sharing their culture to others and educate students about being a global citizen. Students must be aware of the wider world and the problems that comes with it, to be a global citizen. For this reason, Çağ MUN (Model United Nations) has been proceeding in facility for years. Çağ MUN raises awareness about solutions for global problems while improving students' knowledge and consciousness at these fully English conferences.

School, which is a Cambridge exam centre provides their students with the opportunity to be evaluated internationally by taking exams at their own level. Each exam focuses on a level of the Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR), helping learners to be more advanced at language learning and making their academic life easier.

In conclusion, quality of education truly determines the development of a student and will be better if decided accurately. Education that parents are choosing for their youngsters has to be qualified along with suitable for international values.
